

Xcel Energy Averaged Monthly Utility Payment Program

Overview

Want a more predictable monthly payment? Averaged Monthly Payment spreads your heating and cooling costs over the entire year free of charge. We'll take into account your energy costs, historical usage and seasonal changes in energy use to give you a more predictable bill each month. We calculate your average cost over the past 12 months. If you're in a new place, we'll work with you to establish an average. The 12th billing month is used to settle the difference between what you have paid and the energy you have used. This could result in either a credit or a charge.

NOTE: We may adjust your payment during the year to prevent large charges to the 12th billing month.
